

ROCK, SCISSORS, PAPER

INTERNATIONAL OUTDOOR SCULPTURE PROJECT

Hoya Children's Park, Tokyo, Japan 1992-1993

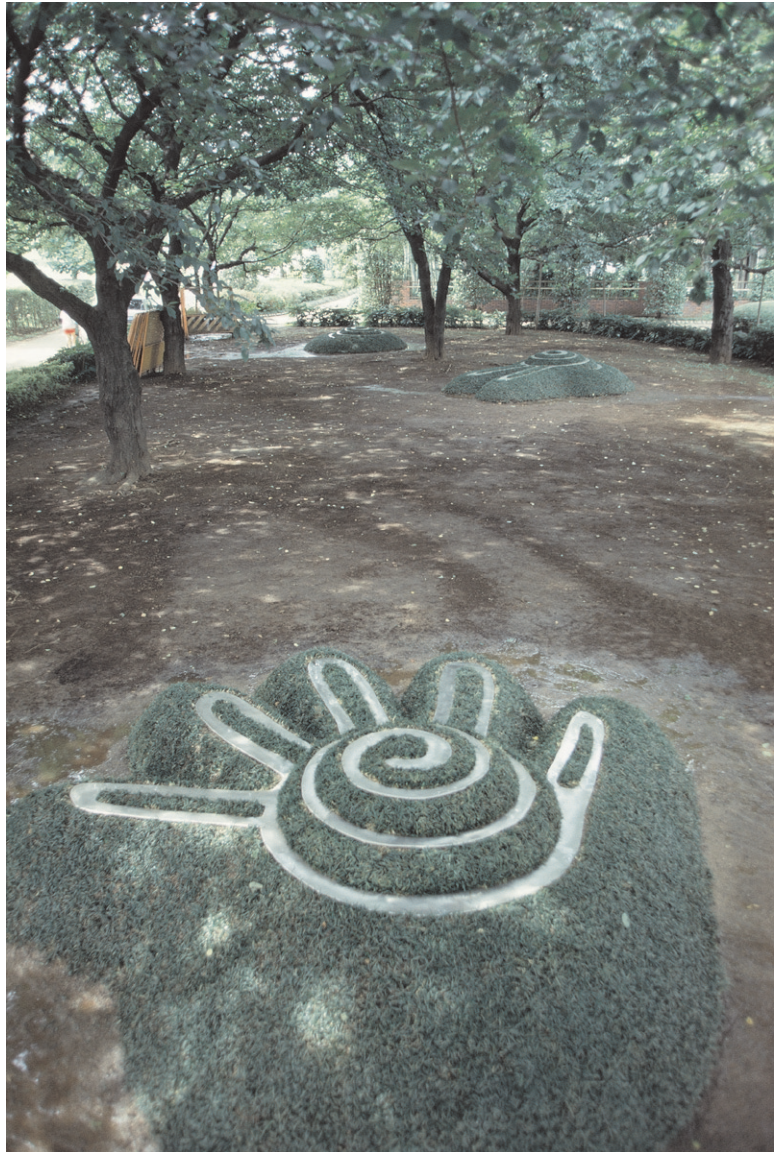

Commissioner: Tama Life 21, Tokyo Metropolitan Government

Art Planner: Atelier Aza

Budget: $ 120,000

stainless steel, earth, plant

Children around the world do not always need words to play together. Three sculptures are inspired by the universal game of rock, scissors, paper. Stainless steel takes the form of giant spiral hands. The spiral is a symbol of growth.
