

ment in the typography, while the plates are also more capacious. The whole result is a higher excellence in all the material qualities of the journal, which is well matched by the worth and importance of the articles. Professor Lankester has been most successful in his management of this publication; for, when he began, its value was so much inferior to that it now has, that the progress is remarkable. What was the not very important organ of amateurs has become a leading journal.

—The death is announced, Dec. 7, of Mr. G. W. Belfrage, an assiduous collector of insects in Bosque County, Texas.

—A new natural history society has been organized at Trenton, N.J., with Prof. Ellis A. Apgar, state superintendent of public instruction, as president, and Dr. C. C. Abbott as secretary.

—In the year 1800 there was founded at Paris a society entitled 'La société des observateurs de l'homme.' While no one would expect to find such an organization invested with all the modern improvements, a perusal of their first instructions to observers will both gratify and agreeably astonish the student of to-day. The document appears in full in the January number of the Revue d'anthropologie, filling twenty-two closely printed pages.

—A plate reproducing the appearance of a part of the relief-map of France, by E. Guillemin, is given in La Nature, Jan. 6, 1883.

—The scientific results of the fourth polar voyage (1881) of the 'William Barents' are reviewed in Ausland, 1883, 61-68.

—Mr. Charles Henry Hart is the author of a memoir on Lewis H. Morgan of Rochester, N.Y., read before the Numismatic and antiquarian society of Philadelphia, May 4, 1882, and published by the society. The works of Mr. Morgan are briefly reviewed; but a bibliography, which would be of great service to students of anthropology, is wanting.

—In article 189 of our 'Summary,' the reading should be: "as has been done by M. Marey in his 'photographic gun,'" and not 'photographic sun.'
