

UNIVERSITY AND EDUCATIONAL NEWS.

AFTER a long discussion of the report of the committee on 'A National University,' published above, the national council of education passed on July 9 the following resolution :

Resolved, That the report of the committee be received and the committee discharged ; and that while we express our appreciation of their labors we are not prepared to abandon the position taken by the National Educational Association in favor of a National University.

At the Johns Hopkins University the following promotions have been made :

Henry F. Reid, Ph.D., now associate professor, to be professor of geological physics.

William J. A. Bliss, Ph.D., now associate, to be collegiate professor of physics.

Duncan S. Johnson, Ph.D., now associate, to be associate professor of botany.

Oliver L. Fassig, Ph.D., now instructor, to be associate in meteorology.

Charles R. Bardeen, M.D., now associate, to be associate professor of anatomy.

Thomas B. Fletcher, M.B., now associate, to be associate professor of medicine.

Walter Jones, Ph.D., now associate, to be associate professor of physiological chemistry.

Robert L. Randolph, M.D., now associate, to be associate professor of ophthalmology and otology.

Stewart Paton, M.D., now assistant in neurology, to be associate in psychiatry.

Percy M. Dawson, M.D., now instructor, to be associate in physiology.

Eugene L. Opie, M.D., now instructor, to be associate in pathology.

Frank R. Smith, M.D., now instructor, to be associate in medicine.

Henry B. Jacobs, M.D., now instructor, to be associate in medicine.

Thomas McCrae, M.B., now instructor, to be associate in medicine.

Frank W. Lynch, M.D., now assistant, to be associate in obstetrics.

At Washington University, St. Louis, Mr. Alexander S. Chessin, formerly associate professor of mathematics in the Johns Hopkins University, has been appointed professor of mathematics to succeed Professor Edmund A. Engler, now president of Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Alexander S. Langsdorf, graduate of Washington University, was appointed assistant professor of electrical engineering. It is announced that before the beginning of next term, a professor of zoology and a professor of philosophy will be appointed.

JOSEPH MARSHALL FLINT, Ph.D. (Johns Hopkins), instructor in the University of Chicago, has been appointed to the newly established chair of anatomy in the University of California.

C. W. MARX, professor of mechanical engineering in the University of Missouri, has accepted the professorship of engineering in the University of Cincinnati.

DR. FREDERIC E. CLEMENTS, of the University of Nebraska, has been promoted from an instructorship to the adjunct professorship of botany. Dr. Clements is conducting a summer school of ecological botany in the Pike's Peak region in the Rocky Mountains of Colorado. About twenty students are registered for the work.

JOHN JAMES THORNBUR, B.Sc., 1897, and M.A., 1901, of the University of Nebraska, for several years teacher of science in the High School of Nebraska City, Nebr., and special botanical collector for the University of Nebraska for the present season, has been elected to the professorship of botany in the University of Arizona. He will assume his new duties on August 1, after which his address will be Tucson, Arizona.

MISS MINNIE A. STONER, dean of the Woman's Department and professor of domestic science in the Kansas State Agricultural College, has been elected professor of domestic science in the Ohio State University.

THE place left vacant in the State Normal School at Charleston, Ill., by the resignation of Dr. J. Paul Goode to accept the position of instructor of geography in the University of Pennsylvania, has been given to Mr. G. D. Hubbard, graduate of the University of Illinois and M.A., Harvard.

MR. W. V. B. VAN DYCK has resigned an instructorship in electrical science in Rutgers College, to engage in industrial work.

SIR MARTIN CONWAY, known to scientific men for his explorations in the Himalayas, in Spitzbergen and in the Andes, has been made professor of fine arts in Cambridge University.