

education and profound sympathy with Yale sentiment. A believer in physical and mental development; a scholar and a man. In choosing Dr. Angell as president, Yale has gone back to her earliest traditions, and, as was the case with her first five presidents, has taken a graduate of another institution. It was not until 1766 that a Yale graduate became president. Instead of having been a Yale man, he has spent his life preparing to be one.

HONORARY DEGREES AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY

HONORARY degrees were conferred at the commencement of Harvard University on June 23 on the men of science given below. In conferring these degrees President Lowell spoke as follows:

Master of Science

CARLOS CHAGAS, of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. "Director of the Instituto Oswaldo Cruz, preeminent in the knowledge of tropical medicine in Brazil, discoverer of the nature and cause of the disease that bears his name."

Doctor of Science

SIR ROBERT JONES, of London, England. "The orthopædic surgeon who patiently and silently showed the way to restore to usefulness and comfort the cripples of the war."

GEORGE ELLERY HALE, director of Mt. Wilson Observatory at Pasadena, California. "Astronomer famous in two worlds, whose spectroheliograph has recorded light of the sun too strong and of the stars too faint for human sight."

HERBERT CHARLES MOFFITT, professor of medicine at the University of California. "The physician who built up for the University of California the great medical school of the Pacific Coast."

Doctor of Laws

JAMES ROWLAND ANGELL, new president of Yale University, Harvard A.M., '92. "A man tried in many posts, whose reputation has grown with every trial; worthy head of a university national in its scope, great in its history, great in its services to the nation, and greater still in its destiny."
