7,500 pounds per acre per year. This deduction of course assumes that the dust falls occur with equal frequency throughout the year. Recognizing that such an assumption is not warranted, we have made careful observation for the last three years to estimate whether the calculated amount might be below or above the And though accurate measurements actual. have been impossible we are convinced that at least the amount given is deposited in this way each vear. The annual accumulation, however, does not differ widely from this figure. Many times repeated determinations of the weight of an acre foot of this soil show it to be very close to 2,450,000 pounds per acre. At the rate of accumulation just given it would require 326 years for the deposition of one foot, or approximately four inches is deposited in one century. This is four times as much as estimated by Free. If no erosion took place during deposition, according to this estimate, 25,000 years were necessary for the deposition of the seventy-five feet of soil that covers the lava beds on this plateau.

Considerable further work has been done by the writer along this line but does not bear directly upon the mode and rate of formation of this soil. The work is now to be discontinued unless some one else will take it up. A fine problem is presented in historical geology or physiography, and it is hoped that some person remaining in the vicinity of these interesting deposits will find time to take up a study of them. A measurement of the depth of the soil and more accurate measurements of the rate of deposition are problems that will lead to extremely interesting deductions regarding the age of the various lava outflows.
