THE RETREAT FROM LEARNING IN OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

BY ARTHUR E. BESTOR

In a book that challenges certain fundamental tenets of "professional educationists," Professor Bestor contends that too many public school graduates are ill-equipped to cope with the increasingly heavy intellectual demands of modern life. And he marshals a great deal of disquieting evidence to support his charge that there is a "retreat from learning in our public schools."

Information Theory in Biology

EDITED BY HENRY QUASTLER

This book represents the first concerted attempt to employ information theory in the field of biology. It is the work of fifteen scientists representing several fields. By means of structural and functional analysis they apply the concept of entropy to metabolism, growth, and other basic functions of living organisms.

EXPERIMENTS, THEORIES, AND PROBLEMS IN GENERAL CHEMISTRY

By H. W. STONE and JAMES D. McCULLOUGH, University of California, Los Angeles. International Chemical Series. 352 pages, $6.00

Designed to present the three important aspects (experiments, theories, and problems) of beginning college chemistry in a unified and rigorous treatment, this book brings the student the essence of the most successful procedures. Going far beyond the scope of the usual manual, it serves as a text which presents all the essentials of a first semester course.

THE SCIENCE OF CHEMISTRY. New second edition

By GEORGE W. WATT and LEWIS F. HATCH, University of Texas. In press

Here is an excellent revision of an introductory college text for the terminal cultural courses in chemistry. The general plan of the book remains the same and the material has been modernized throughout. The most important revisions are in the introductory chapters and those on radioactivity, nuclear energy, petroleum, medicine and pharmacy, and agricultural applications. A laboratory manual is available.

INTRODUCTION TO THE CHEMISTRY OF ENZYMES

By KEITH J. LAIDLER, Catholic University of America. In press

Written for all persons interested in science, this distinctive new book provides, within the limits of a single volume, a general introductory account of the chemical properties of enzymes. Enzymes are treated from a mechanistic point of view and the author consistently attempts to explain modes of action. New material included covers the kinetics and mechanism of enzyme action and the structure of enzyme action and the structure of enzymes in their active and denatured forms.
