WHAT CAN THE MATTER BE!

Today scientific research is greatly accelerated with the ultimate in microscopic instruments, the Hitachi HU-11A Electron Microscope equipped with an electron optical lens characterized by its remarkably small astigmatism, chromatic and spherical aberration.

Hitachi HU-11A not only magnifies up to 250,000 times, but, observes specimens subjected to various chemical and physical changes. Already the microscope has proved an indispensable tool for hospitals, science and industry. Over 250 are now in use in the United States and in Europe.

Specifications :

- Direct Magnification : X400—X250,000
- Photographic Enlargement: X2,000,000
- Resolving Power : 7A
- Optical System : 3-stage magnetic lens system, 4 turret projection lenses interchangeable during operation.
- Accelerating Voltage : 50, 75, 100KV
- Minimum Illuminated Area :  $2\mu\phi$
- Accessories : Heating, Cooling, Tension and Stereo devices.

TOBOR offers a totally new approach to the counting of large volume samples

Large-volume, gamma-emitting samples can be counted faster and with greater reproducibility than ever before possible. TOBOR's versatile counting chamber accepts samples varying in size from insects to monkeys and point sources to 10-liter bottles. Counting efficiency is independent of sample volume over a wide range. ¶ With a gamma-ray spectrometer set on the cesium-137 peak, background is less than 60 cpm and counting efficiency is better than 20 per cent. ¶ TOBOR is offered with a variety of crystals from 3-inch x 3-inch sodium iodide crystals to 7-inch x 4-inch plastic scintillators. The system can be used with any Nuclear-Chicago scaler-analyzer combination and with most multi-channel analyzers. Please write for complete details and specifications.
