the Lab-aid
paraffin
block file
is another

The "Lab-aid" paraffin block filing cabinet is finished to match all other types of "Lab-aid" files, and stacks interchangeably with any of them. Here it is stacked upon a vertical microslide file with 1" drawers.

you needn't put up with "shoebox" block filing

Ask for a six-month-old paraffin block in many an otherwise well-ordered laboratory, and the hunt's on. Likely as not it means hours of prowling through a weird behind-the-scenes jumble of dusty, dog-eared cartons . . . trying everyone's temper, taking everyone's time, piling up hidden costs.

That's all out now, with this new "Lab-aid" block filing cabinet. You file your paraffin blocks in small, shipshape, white cardboard boxes, which come in varied sizes to accommodate all sorts of blocks, however irregular or out-sized. The boxes knock down, but spring to shape in a moment, so they're no storage problem. They're so proportioned that they fit snugly, row on row, in the shallow steel drawers.

The all-steel cabinet holds ten drawers, equipped with combination drawer-pulls and label-holders at each end. Each drawer will accommodate a gross of the 1½" boxes: other sizes in ratio (see the filled drawers above). Multiply that by ten and you've some idea of the large capacity of this compact section (it's only 19" square by 12" high). That's because there's no waste space . . . every cubic inch is a filing inch.
