

LAST CHANCE

We're clearing out our stock of AAAS annual meeting audiotapes. This may be your last chance to buy tapes of the 1969-1975 sessions.

We've cut prices by at least 30 percent. Sale prices are $12 a session for cassette recordings or $6 a session for reel-to-reel tapes. (Annual meeting tapes are recorded in sessions: Some tape titles have only one session; others might have two or three.)

Over 100 tapes in other fields are also available at these reduced prices. (Check the 1976 AAAS audiotapes brochure.)

Quantities are limited; send your order in right away!

AAAS NEWS

titled "New Directions for AAAS." At its Annual Meeting session, the Council voted to commend the Committee for its report and to encourage its use as a guideline in planning future priorities of the Association. The report is available from the AAAS Committee on Future Directions.

For the Library

Death and Dying: An Examination of Legislative and Policy Issues—The proceedings of a AAAS regional seminar held in June 1976 can now be ordered from the Georgetown University Health Policy Center, cosponsor of the seminar, at 3520 Prospect Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20057. The volume costs $3.50 and includes papers on state legislative activity, demographic data, criteria for the determination of death, and legal and ethical implications of death and dying issues.

Adapting Science to Social Needs: Knowledge, Institutions, People Into Action—The proceedings of a AAAS conference held 5-8 May 1976 in Rensselaerville, New York, this 300-page volume includes conference presentations, workshop discussions, observations, conference evaluation, and bibliography. Plenary papers cover specific problem areas discussed at the conference, as well as examinations of the structure, process, and utilization of the results of problem-oriented interprofessional collaboration. Reports on conference workshops address conceptual aspects, alternate reward structures, management and organizational factors, user needs, and recommendations for change related to interdisciplinary research. The volume may be obtained, free of charge, while copies last, from the Office of Public Sector Programs, AAAS.
